4POINTS TECHNOLOGIES TO PROVIDE HIGH AVAILABILITY SERVICE OFFERINGS

01/18/2005 -- CAMPBELL, CALIFORNIA -- (MARKET WIRE)

4Points Technologies, Inc. announced that it is expanding its professional services organization to include a specific focus on High-Availability solutions. 4Points now delivers a series of service offerings ranging from High-Availability audits and assessments to full-blown High-Availability implementations. A typical HA assessment engagement can be completed in approximately 2 weeks and would be performed by a two-person HA team from 4Points.

4Points' newly formed group of High-Availability consultant architects is being headed up by Paul Bertucci, leading industry authority on HA and author of the recently published book "Microsoft SQL Server, High-Availability" (SAMS Publishing ISBN: 0-672-326256). Paul brings with him some of the best qualified High-Availability, Data Integration, Database and Performance & Tuning architects in the industry. This depth of resources enables 4Points to deliver superior services and solutions on a wide variety of enterprise platforms.

"In particular, our consultants are experts at assessing High-Availability requirements throughout the enterprise and matching them to the various technical capabilities within organizations and in the open marketplace using a proven and uniquely formulated HA assessment methodology. Our HA assessment methodology is completely DBMS and vendor software independent and we can help our customers to optimize throughout their complex heterogeneous enterprise environments," said Don Ritzman, 4Points' Chief of Sales and Marketing.
